

Luxury Food Products

The Book of Oysters

Stefaan Daeninck – Photography Douglas Moors

Whisky à la Carte

Bob Minnekeer & Stefaan Van Laere

Photography Johan Martens

Duvel à la Carte

Stefaan Daeninck – Photography Sven Everaert

- Three luxury products are tasted and brought into the limelight
- Top chefs from around the world show their most innovative cooking techniques and create dishes using a.o. the well-known Belgian premium beer 'Duvel'
- Top photographers such as Sven Everaert and Douglas Moors provide an innovative photography

Luxury products do not always have to be presented in a luxurious manner. On the contrary, in an original cuisine these products become part and parcel of an intense enjoyment that everybody can experience. Gourmand writer and cook Stefaan Daeninck isn't fond of raw oysters anyway. Dozens of witty recipes prove that he has a point in 'The Book of Oysters'.

In 'Whisky à la Carte' chefs use the Scottish nectar in their recipes and prepare dishes for which connoisseur Bob Minnekeer with the moustachioed smile has found the perfect single or pure malt.

For 'Duvel à la Carte' our authors were inspired and went overseas – to Paris, Los Angeles and London – in order to come to the conclusion that Duvel is well and truly devilishly hot.

235 x 230 mm | 96 (Oysters), 144 (Whisky) or 156 (Duvel) pages

100 colour illustrations | 30.000 words

paperback with flaps available languages for the 'The Book of Oysters' and 'Whisky à la Carte': Dutch and French

Duvel à la Carte is as well available in English