

Backstage Kitchen

Lut De Clercq – Photography Heikki

- A funny and surprising cookery book on how world artists eat
- A cult book for music loving foodies
- A truly original and 'swinging' layout

Cook Lut De Clercq is responsible for the catering of one of Europe's most important concert clubs, the Ancienne Belgique. She has cooked for over five hundred bands and artists, among which were Oasis, Iggy Pop, Suzanne Vega, The Beastie Boys or Elvis Costello.

Apparently rappers have a different culinary preference from jazz musicians. And heavy metal bands don't seem to be softies in culinary respect either. This book offers the favourite recipes of top artists from all musical genres, to try at home, while listening to a nice bit of music.

The book's design, which is as funny and unusual as its content, has been awarded by the 'Plantin-Moretusprijs'.

240 x 200 mm | 176 pages
120 colour illustrations | 30,000 words
soft cover with flaps
all rights available