

250 x 250 mm | 144 pages
ca 400 illustrations ca 30.000 words
paperback with flaps
all rights available

Choosing garden plants

Florentine van Eeghen
photography Cora Koning

- › Perfect for starting gardeners
- › Clear overviews
- › Detailed illustrations enhance the reading experience

A clear and practical guide for amateur and starting gardeners. Florentine van Eeghen shows the readers in a clear and comprehensive way what plants to put in their backyard, and answers much-asked questions as: How do I plant, trim and manure my plants? How do I distinguish plants from weeds?, etc.

The book features both a well-written overview on full sun plants, shade plants, sand and clay soil plants, as well as a list of potentially dangerous plants for children, pets or even your own garden.

Florentine van Eeghen is the author of many garden books. She also writes articles for magazines, and delivers lectures. Since 1995 she combines garden design with photography. Key feature in her work is an outstanding eye for detail.